SELECTED HEADLINES

Shares listed on the Johannesburg Stock Exchange (JSE) slipped on Tuesday after a strong start to the week, as weak platinum prices pulled down the mining companies which had spearheaded most of the gains earlier. However, local banks, often considered the barometer of the domestic economy, fared well as investors said the worst of the third wave of coronavirus in the country was over and some green shoots were visible. The benchmark all-share index ended down 0.54% to 64,300 points and the blue-chip index of top-40 companies closed down 0.65% to 58,115 points.

Stor-Age in new self-storage JV with Nedbank

Self-storage real estate investment trust (Reit) Stor-Age put out a strong business and trading update on the JSE on Tuesday and announced plans to develop new self-storage properties in greater Sandton as part of a joint venture (JV) with Nedbank Corporate and Investment Bank – SA’s largest commercial property financier. “Stor-Age has agreed terms to enter a JV with Nedbank Corporate and Investment Bank, acting through Nedbank Property Partners, subject to the finalisation of formal contract documentation, to develop two high profile properties in Morningside [7 400m² gross lettable area or GLA] and Bryanston [4 700m²] at a total cost of approximately R200 million,” it noted in a JSE Sens statement. It said that construction is scheduled to start at both properties in the second half of its 2022 financial year and that the two developments form part of the group’s existing R685 million overall South African development pipeline. As part of the JV, Stor-Age will own a 50.1% equity stake while Nedbank will hold the balance. Stor-Age said the JV will be funded by equity and mezzanine funding from both parties of 35% and senior debt of 65% of the total development costs. The newly developed properties as part of the JV will be branded and managed by Stor-Age, while the group will also earn development and property management fees from the JV. The group is the country’s largest and only JSE-listed self-storage-focused property counter. “In South Africa on a same store like-for-like basis ... the average rental rate has increased by 7.1% year-on-year, while total occupancy has increased by 9 200m² or 3%,” it said. Stor-Age added that in the UK the average rental rate had increased by 5.7% year-on-year, while total occupancy increased by 9 800m² or 10.4% in the same period.

EUROPEAN MARKET COMMENTARY

SELECTED HEADLINES

European stocks closed mixed Tuesday as investors reacted to U.S. inflation data that could inform the Federal Reserve's timing for tapering of its monetary stimulus. The pan-European Stoxx 600 provisionally closed little changed, with mining stocks sinking 1.9% while tech shares rose 1.2%. In terms of individual share price movement, British retailer JD Sports climbed 9.7% on Tuesday to top the Stoxx 600 after reporting a sevenfold surge in first-half earnings.

AMERICAN MARKET COMMENTARY

SELECTED HEADLINES

U.S. stock indexes closed lower Tuesday, giving up gains earlier in the session after a better-than-feared inflation reading and falling back into their September doldrums. Stocks popped at the open after the August consumer price index, while still showing a significant jump in inflation, came in less than expected. However, the stock averages turned lower roughly half an hour into trading. Shares linked to the economic recovery dropped. Bank of America lost 2.6%. General Electric took industrial shares into the red, closing 3.9% lower.

ASIAN MARKET COMMENTARY

SELECTED HEADLINES

Shares in Asia-Pacific were lower this morning following losses overnight on Wall Street, with investors reacted to the release of Chinese economic data. Data released earlier today showed China's retail sales growing at a much slower pace than expected in August. The retail sales print for the month grew 2.5%, against a 7% growth forecast by analysts polled by Reuters.

COMMODITY MARKET COMMENTARY

SELECTED HEADLINES

Gold prices held above the key psychological level of $1,800 as the dollar and bond yields came under pressure after a tamer-than-expected rise in U.S. inflation led to uncertainty on when the U.S. central bank will begin tapering its asset purchases. Oil prices climbed this morning after industry data showed a larger than expected drawdown in crude oil stocks in the United States, the world's largest oil consumer, and on expectations that demand will recover as vaccine roll-outs widen.

The rand slumped on Tuesday afternoon, bringing to a halt a recent rally as investment bank JPMorgan recommended selling the currency. At the close of the session, the rand was trading around R14.33 versus the dollar or 1.31% softer. JPMorgan said in a note to clients that three factors made the rand look vulnerable: it had reached high levels on an in-house emerging market risk appetite index, key terms of trade were starting to look less favourable and investors might also look at hedging options again soon.
