SELECTED HEADLINES

Johannesburg-listed stocks inched up on Wednesday, but slowing Chinese factory output and retail sales kept gains in check as elsewhere on global equities markets. The fortunes of some heavyweight South African companies such as tech investor Naspers, luxury goods maker Richemont and mining firms are inextricably linked to China. Trading on the Johannesburg Stock Exchange was subdued for much of the day but two key indices ended in positive territory: the blue-chip Top-40, which closed up 0.2% at 58,230 points, and the All-share index, which ended up 0.13% at 64,385 points.

Impact of Covid-19 pandemic on Hyprop is diminishing

The Covid-19 impact on the assets and financial performance of JSE-listed retail property fund Hyprop Investments is diminishing. Hyprop CEO Morné Wilken said on Wednesday the company obviously had to give more rental relief during the hard lockdown and the extent of the rental relief it is giving tenants now has declined. However, Wilken said "it's still not where we want it to be" and that Hyprop will have to continue to give tenants rental relief until the Covid-19 lockdowns are completely lifted or there aren't any restrictions on how retailers can trade. Wilken added that it was key for Hyprop to ensure, for example, that the restaurants in its malls do well and indicated there are some tenants that are still struggling under the variations of the lockdowns, such as cinema houses. Hyprop reported on Wednesday that the Covid-19 impact reduced distributable income by R278 million, or 90 cents per share, in the year to end-June, with R159 million in rental discounts granted to tenants and a R119 million reduction in income from Hystead, the UK-based company housing Hyprop's European investments. However, Hyprop reported an increase in office vacancies in the South African portfolio to 24%, which it attributed to an increase in the number of employees working from home and a reluctance by companies to renew office leases. The vacancy level in Hyprop's Eastern Europe portfolio was 0.3% at end-June, which it said confirmed the dominance of the malls in their markets. Hyprop, which has a strategy to exit from sub-Saharan Africa, said its Ikeja City Mall in Nigeria remains fully let and the vacancy rate in its malls in Ghana reduced from 16.7% to 16.1%. Distributable income reduced from 493.4 cents per share to 336.5 cents per share and a dividend of 336.5 cents per share for the year was declared, with shareholders entitled to elect to reinvest the net cash dividend in return for additional Hyprop shares. Hyprop's distributable income performance improved by 19% in the second half of its financial year compared to the first half. This was led by the South African portfolio, which achieved R571 million of distributable income in the second half compared to R470 million in the first half. The increase in the number of ordinary shares in issue by 21% to R53 million from support for the 'dividend reinvestment alternative' in the 2020 financial year, which raised R77 million in equity, and the accelerated book build in April 2021 that raised R358 million, contributed to the decrease in distributable income per share.

EUROPEAN MARKET COMMENTARY

SELECTED HEADLINES

European markets closed lower on Wednesday as traders reacted to economic data out of the U.K. and China. The pan-European Stoxx 600 provisionally ended Wednesday's session down 0.7%, with utilities shares dropping 2.7% to lead the losses as most sectors and major bourses dipped into the red. U.K. inflation soared to a nine-year high in August, with consumer prices rising 3.2% year-on-year after a 2% annual rise in July, according to the Office for National Statistics. The 1.2 percentage point incline was the sharpest since records began in 1997.

AMERICAN MARKET COMMENTARY

SELECTED HEADLINES

The Dow Jones Industrial Average rebounded Wednesday after a string of negative trading sessions this September. Some bullish economic news released before the bell Wednesday helped stabilize investor sentiment. The New York Fed's Empire Index, a measure of manufacturing in the region, came in at 34.3 for September, way ahead of the 18 consensus estimate from FactSet. It marked an acceleration from August. Rising U.S. Treasury yields helped lift bank stocks, with Citigroup up 2.4% and Morgan Stanley 1.1% higher. Higher interest rates typically boost bank profits.

ASIAN MARKET COMMENTARY

SELECTED HEADLINES

Shares in Asia-Pacific were mixed in early morning trade, with casino shares in Hong Kong mostly seeing another day of losses. Australia's unemployment rate decreased to 4.5% on a seasonally adjusted basis in August, data released Thursday showed, lower than the 4.9% forecast in a Reuters poll. Still, the Australian Bureau of Statistics attributed the decline to a "large fall in participation during the recent lockdowns" rather than strengthening labor market conditions.

COMMODITY MARKET COMMENTARY

SELECTED HEADLINES

Gold prices were steady this morning as investors awaited signals on the Federal Reserve's timeline for tapering pandemic-era stimulus measures, after softer-than-expected U.S. inflation data fuelled some uncertainty. Oil prices slipped earlier today, but kept most of the previous day's gains after a larger-than-expected drawdown in crude oil stocks in the United States, the world's largest oil consumer.

The rand fell on Wednesday as a drop in retail sales added to evidence that riots and tight COVID-19 restrictions dealt the economy a severe blow at the start of the third quarter. At the close, the rand was trading around R14.41 to the dollar or 0.57% softer. Retail sales contracted 0.8% year on year in July and by 11.2% month on month. More than 300 people died and thousands of shops were looted as some of the worst violence of the post-apartheid era erupted soon after the arrest of former president Jacob Zuma in July.
