SELECTED HEADLINES

Local stocks were little changed, with the Johannesburg Stock Exchange's All-Share index at 66,776 points, inching down 0.02%, while the Top-40 Index edged down 0.05%. A rally in technology shares failed to lift stocks as resources weighed on the bourse. The resource index fell 0.53%, led by miner Glencore down 4.1%. This week the local data calendar is light, with the September consumer price index on Wednesday likely to attract most attention and give direction.

Acsa's annus horribilis as FY loss hits R2.6bn

Airports Company South Africa (Acsa) – the state monopoly that controls nine of the country's main airports – reported a loss of R2.6 billion on Tuesday for its financial year ended March 31, 2021. This represents the worst financial performance in Acsa's 28-year history, group CFO Siphamandla Mthethwa confirmed during a results presentation. He said the sector has seen losses of around $125 billion worldwide. Acsa has historically reported annual profits and has been one of the better operated state-owned enterprises. "The R2.6 billion loss for FY2021 is the group's second-ever loss.... But Acsa was in a strong financial position before Covid-19, which enabled us to go into the pandemic with a stronger balance sheet," Mthethwa pointed out. "As we sit here today, we are in a much stronger position as the aviation sector recovers," he said, adding that Acsa had taken "decisive action" to boost its liquidity to weather the Covid storm. The group's revenue plummeted from R7.1 billion in its financial year ending March 2020, to R2.2 billion for its 2021 financial year. Worth noting is that its 2021 financial year is made up of much of last year, when Covid-19 hard lockdowns and travel restrictions hit the start of its first half in April. Regarding the Covid-19 financial fallout, Mthethwa said he believes that "the worst is over". He reiterated that Acsa's balance sheet remains strong and the group continues as a going concern, with R32 billion in assets, despite posting an operating loss last year due to Covid-19.

Economic recovery not responsible for new vehicle demand exceeding supply – CMH

The perception among some that the economic recovery is responsible for new vehicle demand temporarily exceeding supply is incorrect, warned JSE-listed vehicle retailer Combined Motor Holdings (CMH) on Tuesday. "The reality is that national sales levels are substantially behind those of the past decade and the return of abundant supply will expose the dearth of customers who can afford a vehicle purchase. Be careful of what you wish for," said CMH CEO Jebb McIntosh. McIntosh reported that CMH's retail motor segment, the group's largest business, had achieved its best-ever first six months' results following the pre-tax loss in this period last year. McIntosh said this was driven by a 54% increase in revenue, improved trading margins, slashed operating expenses and lower interest rates. Group revenue for the reporting period was still 3.8% lower than the R5.7 billion reported for this period in 2019. Operating profit improved by 426.5% to R256.1 million from R48.6 million and was 28% higher than the R200.06 million reported in 2019. Headline earnings per share surged by 1 529% to 200 cents from the headline loss per share of 14 cents in the prior period and was 65% higher than 120 cents reported in 2019. An interim dividend of 110 cents per share has been declared. An interim dividend was not declared in 2020. Total domestic new vehicle sales for the nine months to end-September 2021 at 345 172 units is 30.1% higher than the 265 247 units sold in the corresponding period in 2020 but still 13.3% lower than the 398 290 units sold in this period in 2019.

AMERICAN MARKET COMMENTARY

SELECTED HEADLINES

U.S. stocks climbed on Tuesday as major companies continued to report strong third-quarter earnings, easing concerns that persistent Covid cases and rising costs would derail corporate America's profit recovery. The Dow and the S&P 500 now sit less than 1% from their respective all-time highs. Dow member Travelers saw its shares gain 1.6% after the insurance company's quarterly earnings report topped expectations.

ASIAN MARKET COMMENTARY

SELECTED HEADLINES

Shares in Asia-Pacific were mixed this morning. China, earlier today, kept the one-year loan prime rate (LPR) unchanged at 3.85% while the five-year LPR was also held steady at 4.65%. That was in line with expectations from a majority of traders and analysts in a snap Reuters poll who had predicted no change in both the one-year loan prime rate as well as the five-year LPR. Debt-ridden developer China Evergrande Group shelved plans to sell a majority stake in its property services business, Reuters reported.

Gold prices edged lower this morning as surging U.S. bond yields dented the metal's appeal and bets for upbeat corporate earnings lifted risk-on sentiment. Oil prices turned down after the Chinese government flagged it was looking for ways to tame record high coal prices and that it would ensure coal mines operate at full capacity as Beijing moved to ease a power shortage. Chinese coal prices and other commodity prices slumped in early trade, which in turn pulled oil prices down from an uptick earlier in the day.

The rand rose on Tuesday, gaining back some ground lost a day earlier thanks to a softer dollar, while stocks closed little changed as they struggled for direction. At the close of the day, the rand was 1.11% firmer versus the dollar as it traded around the R14.53 mark. The currency had dipped on Monday, dented by third quarter economic data from China showing the slowest pace of growth in a year, which prompted investors to sell riskier assets like the rand. However weak manufacturing data from the United States knocked the dollar on Tuesday, along with a recovery in risk sentiment and as U.S. Treasury yields paused, helping to lift the rand back up.
