SELECTED HEADLINES AND THEMES

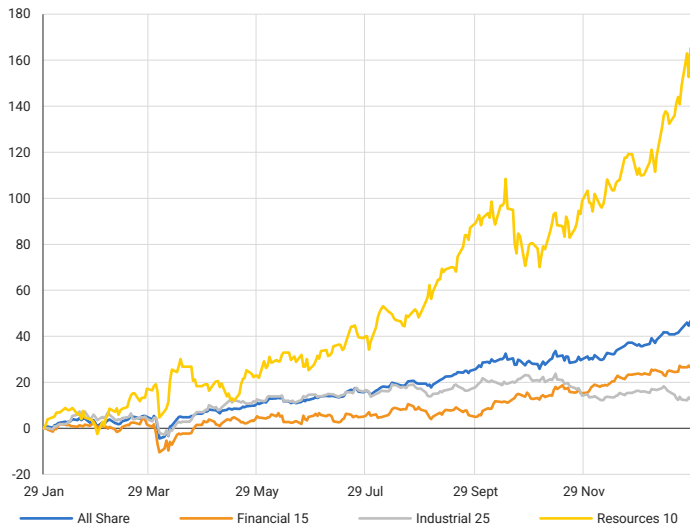

Local equities strengthened, with the JSE All Share Index advancing 1.34% to 125,069.19 and the Top 40 rising 1.49% to 117,341.78. Gains were concentrated in resources, which surged 4.96% as commodity counters outperformed, while financials and industrials eased 0.69% and 0.55% respectively. Market focus now shifts to the South African Reserve Bank's rate decision, a key catalyst for domestic asset prices and currency direction.

Mr Price — Market Share Gains Despite Margin Pressure

Mr Price delivered Q3 FY2026 retail sales growth of 3.6% to R15.1 billion, ahead of the domestic market, with further share gains in core apparel. Trading momentum strengthened into December, when sales rose 5.9% during the peak period. Gross margin softened slightly, though management expects full-year margin to be maintained through disciplined inventory and cash control. Apparel and homeware produced steady growth, while telecoms continued to outperform on both sales and profitability. Online growth accelerated in December. Improving macro conditions in 2026 are expected to support discretionary demand.

Datatec — Cybersecurity Deal Expands European Footprint

Datatec's subsidiary Westcon-Comstor acquired Slovenia-based REAL Security, a value-added cybersecurity distributor operating across eight Balkan markets. The transaction strengthens Westcon-Comstor's regional presence in a structurally growing segment and adds established vendor relationships, technical depth and a well-developed partner ecosystem. REAL Security's platform, including its RISK cybersecurity conference, enhances Datatec's local market access and specialist distribution capability. Management expects the deal to accelerate regional growth and deepen partner enablement by combining REAL Security's local expertise with Westcon-Comstor's global scale. The acquisition became effective on 27 January 2026 and did not require shareholder approval.

Trustco Group (TTO) 0.00% — Board Moves to Unwind Disputed LSH Transaction

Trustco confirmed it has accepted the repudiation of the shareholder-approved LSH transaction framework after actions by Riskowitz Value Fund that the board believes sought to alter governance control. The company will halt further implementation and pursue legal steps to unwind prior elements, including reversing shares issued and returning LSH shares received. Trustco has reserved its rights to seek restitution and recover related losses and costs. The prior cautionary announcement has been withdrawn, with management indicating trading caution is no longer required while legal and regulatory processes continue.

EUROPEAN MARKET SUMMARY

SELECTED HEADLINES AND THEMES

European shares closed lower, with the STOXX 600 declining 0.7% to 608.51, pressured by a 3.8% fall in luxury stocks after LVMH dropped 7.9% on cautious forward commentary. Investors remained risk-averse ahead of major US technology earnings and the Federal Reserve decision. Germany downgraded growth forecasts amid trade uncertainty and subdued policy traction. In the UK, housing activity improved as mortgage rates eased, lifting prices 1.2% year on year. Norway's sovereign wealth fund increased US Treasury holdings to $199 billion, signalling sustained demand for defensive fixed-income assets.

AMERICAN MARKET SUMMARY

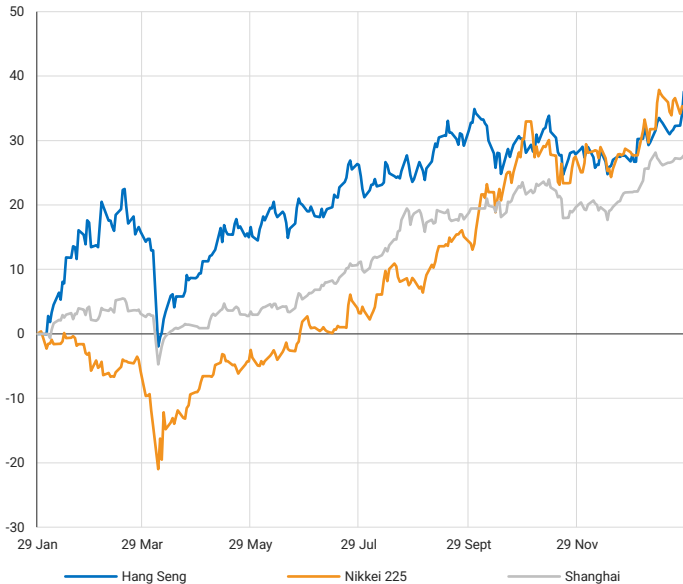

SELECTED HEADLINES AND THEMES

US equity markets were broadly steady as the Federal Reserve kept rates unchanged at 3.5%–3.75%, highlighting persistent inflation alongside resilient economic conditions and a stabilising labour market. The Nasdaq edged higher, supported by semiconductor strength, while the S&P 500 was largely flat as investors assessed policy signals and shifted expectations towards a possible June rate cut. Attention turned to early results from mega-cap technology companies, generating mixed after-hours reactions. Elevated valuations continue to focus scrutiny on whether substantial AI-driven capital expenditure can translate into durable earnings growth.

ASIAN MARKET SUMMARY

SELECTED HEADLINES AND THEMES

Asia-Pacific markets traded mostly lower as investors assessed regional monetary policy signals. Singapore's MAS maintained its exchange-rate policy settings, warning of upside inflation and demand risks amid firm economic conditions. In India, economists expect the RBI to keep its policy rate at 5.25% through 2026 following cumulative easing of 125 basis points since early 2025, with inflation subdued and growth resilient. In primary markets, Shenzhen Han's CNC Technology launched a Hong Kong share offering targeting proceeds of up to HK$4.83 billion.

COMMODITIES MARKET SUMMARY

SELECTED HEADLINES AND THEMES

Oil prices extended gains for a third session as geopolitical risk premia rose on reports of potential US military action against Iran, heightening concerns over supply disruption from a key OPEC producer. Prices were further supported by a surprise US inventory draw, with crude stocks falling by 2.3 million barrels against expectations for an increase. Safe-haven demand strengthened in parallel, driving gold to a record high and lifting silver close to historic peaks, reflecting elevated investor caution amid intensifying geopolitical and macroeconomic uncertainty.

CURRENCY MARKET SUMMARY

SELECTED HEADLINES AND THEMES

The rand softened as markets positioned ahead of interest rate decisions in South Africa and the United States, while the dollar traded unevenly amid evolving policy and geopolitical signals. The Federal Reserve's balanced tone on labour market and inflation dynamics reinforced expectations that US rates could remain elevated for longer, providing underlying support to the dollar. Commodity-linked currencies outperformed, with the Australian dollar reaching a three-year high as record gold prices and expectations of tighter domestic policy boosted sentiment across the antipodean bloc.
