PORTFOLIO MANAGERS COMMENT

The first quarter of 2026 was a volatile period for global markets, largely driven by escalating geopolitical tensions surrounding Iran. Early in the quarter, markets were supported by positive economic data, with the MSCI World Index reaching a record high in late February. However, sentiment shifted sharply after US-led strikes on Iran began on 28 February. This triggered a dramatic surge in oil prices, with Brent crude rising 94% over the quarter - the largest increase since the Gulf War in 1990 - fueling fears of a prolonged conflict and stagflation.

The spike in oil prices led to a broad cross-asset sell-off. Equities declined significantly, with the S&P 500 experiencing its largest monthly drop in a year in March, alongside steep losses in European markets. Bond markets also weakened as inflation expectations rose and central banks turned more hawkish. Rate cuts previously expected from the US Federal Reserve were largely priced out, while markets began anticipating rate hikes from the European Central Bank. Consequently, government bond yields rose sharply, particularly in March.

Overall, the first quarter highlighted how geopolitical shocks can rapidly reverse market momentum and drive widespread volatility across asset classes. Both South African and developed market equities ended the quarter around 1% lower in rand terms while the FTSE/JSE All Bond Index declined by 3.4%.

At the time of writing, there is a two-week ceasefire between US and Iran and the near-term direction of the market heavily depends on whether this translates into a longer-term peace deal that will ensure the full flow of oil tankers through the Strait of Hormuz. Should this transpire, then we would expect the pre-conflict, relatively positive macro backdrop for the equity market to return. Before the conflict, US monetary and fiscal policy easing in the context of broadening profit and productivity growth were providing tailwinds for risk assets, but with an assertive Trump administration set on reshaping the global trade and geopolitical order remaining a disruptive force.

The SPW Shariah portfolio returned 2.43% (benchmark: 2.61%) in April. No changes were made to the model during the month.
