PORTFOLIO MANAGER'S COMMENTS

May was a month of two halves for financial markets. Both bonds and equities initially sold off only to recover strongly in the second half of the month. This schizophrenic behaviour was driven by changing views on inflation and the likely path of the global interest rate cycle. SA equities largely followed the global trend. However, the recovery of local equities was not strong enough to end in positive territory - the FTSE/JSE All Share Index recorded a total return of -0.36% for the period under review.

May was also a month of material disparity within the range of economic sectors. Gold shares were generally under pressure and Goldfields declined by 29%. Other losing sectors were personal goods (Richemont being the biggest constituent) which lost 8.4%, and healthcare providers, which retreated by 4.5%. Big gainers were chemicals (Sasol), adding another 5.2%, diversified miners, which advanced by 6%, with software and computer services (Naspers/Prosus) gaining 5.5% off a low base.

It was a mixed month for commodities as the prices of precious metals (gold down by 3.4%) and base metals came under pressure. However, Brent (+12.3%) and WTI (+9.5%) had another very strong month and have now risen for six consecutive months for the first time since 2011. Local bond yields strengthened marginally and the All Bond Index returned 1.01% in the month. Cash returned 0.4%.

The SPW Shariah Portfolio returned -0.01% (benchmark: -1.60%) in May. No changes were made to the portfolio during the month.
